literary evening in the honour of the Slovenian author*

Boris Pahor

on November 21, at 7.00 p. m. at the North York Central Library (5120 Yonge Street)

Boris Pahor, who celebrated his 100th birthday last August, is one of Slovenia's most prolific authors. In 2013 he was awarded the European Citizen's prize. Pahor has also been awarded the French Legion of Honour, the Austrian Cross of Honour for Science and Art, Italy's Premio Napoli, Slovenia's Order of Freedom and the Prešeren Award for Cultural Achievements in Slovenia. His biography is a tale of one of the most turbulent centuries in human history. Pahor's literature reflects his life experience and includes a story of his own personal ordeal in the extermination camps of the Third Reich as well as his work in international arena for the rights of minority cultures, particularly their languages.

"This is my Life: A Century of Boris Pahor"

The literary evening includes a film interview with the author and readings from selected works.

The event is organized with the support of The Honorary Consul General of the Republic of Slovenia in Toronto John Doma and the Slovenian Community in Toronto. Slovenian refreshments will be served.
